

Call For Papers

AEROSPACE SYSTEMS provides an international, peer-reviewed forum which focuses on system-level research and development regarding aeronautics and astronautics. The journal emphasizes the unique role and increasing importance of informatics on aerospace. It fills a gap in current publishing coverage from outer-space vehicles to atmospheric vehicles by highlighting interdisciplinary science, technology and engineering.

AEROSPACE SYSTEMS was founded in June 2018, sponsored by Shanghai Jiao Tong University (Shanghai, China). It publishes regular research papers and reviews, and is published quarterly by Springer Nature.
